DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I, Claims 13-24, drawn to laser powder build-up welding using a substructure which is enclosed at least in sections by the built-up powder material.

Species II, Claims 25-28, drawn to laser powder build-up welding using different powder materials.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

During a telephone conversation with attorney Clifford A. Ulrich on October 28, 2009 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Specie I, claims 13-24. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 25-28 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 13-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 13, paragraph 2, "the material build-up by a powder material" is not a clear description. Does the laser welding change the powder to a unitary structure or is it still powder?

Claim 13, paragraph 2, "the built-up powder material" is not a clear description. Does the laser welding change the powder to a unitary structure or is it still powder?

The dependent claims contain the unclear descriptions of the base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of USPN 5,887,332 to Champenois et al.

AAPA describes (Specification [0002]-0005]) well known "conventional method for manufacturing and repairing or restoring blades for gas turbines is the so-called laser-powder build-up welding".

Champenois et al describe (Field of the invention) forming a turbomachine blade using metal and a composite material. Champenois et al describe (column 6, lines 5-7) build up welding a metal part.

The instant claimed methods of performing laser powder build-up welding of gas turbine blades using substructures which are enclosed by the build-up weld would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because the laser build up welding is well known and because the composite metal turbomachine components are well known and the combination provides rapid manufacture of hybrid components.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
